

Elevation Development eyeing Osceola site for latest residential project

July 21, 2017

GrowthSpotter

View Link

According to an article written by Laura Kinsler with GrowthSpotter, Elevation Development is looking at a 120 acre piece of land listed for sale in Osceola County for a residential development. The Seller is represented by Clyde Wells, an agent with Maury L. Carter & Associates, Inc. for $8 million.

Representatives from Elevation development met with county planners to discuss zoning and access for the property. Currently the property is zoned agricultural, but has a future land use of Low Density Residential.

The 120 acres is located adjacent to a property that already has an Approved Site Development Plan, proposed to be called Woodland Park, which allows for 1,108 single family homes to be built out in phases.

To read the full article go to:

<http://www.growthspotter.com/news/osceola-county-developments/growthspotter-elevation-development-eyeing-osceola-site-for-latest-residential-project-20170721-story.html>